Following is a description of possible consequences mentioned:

Afternoon Reflection

An Afternoon Reflection 3:30pm-4:30pm – may be imposed by a classroom teacher for recidivist behaviours where other approaches have not succeeded.

Head of House Agreement

The Head of House's Agreement will be issued by the Head of House to students whose performance in class is such that a number of his/her teachers have significant cause for concern. The aim of this is to encourage the student to monitor his/her behaviour and practices during class and to reflect on these each evening.

This process involves:

- counselling the student
- reporting by teachers on the student's performance
- self-reflection by the student each day of the process
- mentoring of the student by her/his Mentor Teacher.
- monitoring of the process by the Mentor Teacher / Head of House / Parent / Guardian
- in the case of the Probationary Contract, the Deputy Head of School issues the contract

Probation

Instead of being suspended or expelled a student may be placed on Probation for a period to be determined by the Deputy Head of School, usually up to four weeks. During this time the student has an opportunity to justify remaining in the School by their attitude and behaviour in all areas. It may require temporary forfeiture of any position of leadership. Students on Probation are expected to justify their place in the whole life of the School. During Probation the student is placed on a contract by the Deputy Head of School and invited to discuss his/her progress with her/his Head of House, Deputy Head of School and possibly the School Psychologist. At the end of Probation, the Deputy Head of School may remove the student from Probation or recommend to the Head of School Suspension or Expulsion. Any breach of the conditions of Probation or the rules of the School may lead to a student's Expulsion.

Suspension

In the event of a serious breach of School Regulations, the Head of School may decide to suspend a student. Suspension is a temporary removal of a student from all of the classes that a student would normally attend at a school for a set period of time. Suspension usually requires the student to be at home for the period. On return, the student may be placed on Probation (usually for a period of four weeks).

The significance of suspension is not dependent upon the length of the suspension, but rather a recognition that the student has, through their behavioural choices, put their position in the school at risk.

Managing the Return to School following suspension or other temporary exclusion from classes:

On return from a period of suspension, the student will meet with the Deputy Head of School/Head of Primary to discuss re-entry into the school and classes. It is recognised that, following on from a period of suspension, the student may experience some anxiety or concern. The student will be led through a coaching exercise in order to prepare them to join their classes and peers positively and constructively. Depending upon each case, the student may undergo a period of Probation, described earlier, which may include a period on a Head of House agreement as a behavioural and wellbeing measure, intended to assist the student manage their behaviour and to build in opportunities for key staff to regularly meet with the student. If appropriate, the student may be encouraged to meet with a school psychologist to debrief on the incident and to develop strategies to employ designed to mitigate against any repeated inappropriate behavioural choices.

On occasion, a suspension may be in place following an incident that has adversely impacted another student or students, for example incidents involving bullying or other unfair actions towards a student(s). In this case, prior to the offender's return from suspension, a Plan will be formulated by the Deputy Head of School in consultation with the impacted student(s) and their parents/carers.

Recognising that each incident will involve a unique set of circumstances and students, the following are examples of measures that may be considered in the formulation of the Plan:

- The student will meet with the Deputy Head of School/Head of Primary to discuss and formulate a Plan. The student's Head of House and/or the student's parent/carer will be welcome to attend this meeting if desired. At this meeting, the student will be given an opportunity to discuss any ongoing concerns they may have. If ongoing concerns are identified, then possible mitigations for these will be discussed and included in the Plan.
- In the case of a secondary school student, the student's Head of House will be informed and asked to check in with the student regularly as needed. For a primary school student, the classroom teacher will be informed.
- The student may be asked to identify an adult member of staff the student trusts and with whom the student feels safe.
 - The student will be able to meet with this adult if the student feels anxious, uncomfortable, or unsafe.
 - If this member of staff is unavailable, then the student will report to Student Services where the student support officer will locate the student's Head of house or Deputy Head of School.
- Counselling and psychological support will be offered to the student via one of the school psychologists. This support may be a single session to discuss any concerns and develop strategies, or it may be ongoing as requested by the student and psychologist. A parent would be welcome to attend the initial psychologist appointment.
- If the student shares any classes with the offender and indicates ongoing concerns, the class teacher will be notified and may make adjustments to ensure the ongoing wellbeing and sense of safety of the student.

Show Cause

Following suspension for a serious breach of the School's Student Code of Conduct, a student may be required to attend a Show Cause meeting with the student's parents / guardians. At this meeting a student is required to face a panel of senior staff to discuss the incident. Following the Show Cause meeting, the panel will confer to decide whether or not the student's enrolment will be continued. A student can only ever face one Show Cause meeting and any further breach of the Student Code of Conduct will result in expulsion.

Managing the Return to School following suspension or other temporary exclusion from classes:

On return from a period of suspension, the student will meet with the Deputy Head of School/Head of Primary to discuss re-entry into the school and classes. It is recognised that, following on from a period of suspension, the student may experience some anxiety or concern. The student will be led through a coaching exercise in order to prepare them to join their classes and peers positively and constructively. Depending upon each case, the student may undergo a period of Probation, described earlier, which may include a period on a Head of House agreement as a behavioural and wellbeing measure, intended to assist the student manage their behaviour and to build in opportunities for key staff to regularly meet with the student. If appropriate, the student may be encouraged to meet with a school psychologist to debrief on the incident and to develop strategies to employ designed to mitigate against any repeated inappropriate behavioural choices.

On occasion, a suspension may be in place following an incident that has adversely impacted another student or students, for example incidents involving bullying or other unfair actions towards a student(s). In this case, prior to the offender's return from suspension, a Plan will be formulated by the Deputy Head of School in consultation with the impacted student(s) and their parents/carers.

Recognising that each incident will involve a unique set of circumstances and students, the following are examples of measures that may be considered in the formulation of the Plan:

- The student will meet with the Deputy Head of School/Head of Primary to discuss and formulate a Plan. The student's Head of House and/or the student's parent/carer will be welcome to attend this meeting if desired. At this meeting, the student will be given an opportunity to discuss any ongoing concerns they may have. If ongoing concerns are identified, then possible mitigations for these will be discussed and included in the Plan.
- In the case of a secondary school student, the student's Head of House will be informed and asked to check in with the student regularly as needed. For a primary school student, the classroom teacher will be informed.
- The student may be asked to identify an adult member of staff the student trusts and with whom the student feels safe.
 - The student will be able to meet with this adult if the student feels anxious, uncomfortable, or unsafe.
 - If this member of staff is unavailable, then the student will report to Student Services where the student support officer will locate the student's Head of house or Deputy Head of School.
- Counselling and psychological support will be offered to the student via one of the school psychologists. This support may be a single session to discuss any concerns and develop strategies, or it may be ongoing as requested by the student and psychologist. A parent would be welcome to attend the initial psychologist appointment.
- If the student shares any classes with the offender and indicates ongoing concerns, the class teacher will be notified and may make adjustments to ensure the ongoing wellbeing and sense of safety of the student.

Expulsion

Following a serious breach of the School's Student Code of Conduct, or recidivism, the Deputy Head of School may direct the student not to attend school while the investigation takes place. An investigation will include the student being provided with information about the nature of the allegations and being given an opportunity to respond.

If after receiving the results of the investigation and hearing representations from the student, the Deputy Head of School forms the view that the consequence of the action of the student should be expulsion, the Deputy Head of School will make a recommendation to that effect to the Head of School and advise the student and parents / guardians that this recommendation has been made.

The parents / guardians or student may appeal against that recommendation to the Head of School, setting out the reasons why the Head of School should not act on the recommendation. Any appeal must be provided to the Head of School no later than 24 hours after the parents / guardians have been advised of the recommendation. If no appeal is made within the time specified, the Head of School will decide whether to accept the recommendation and advise the student and parents / guardian of the decision.

If the student or parents / guardians have lodged an appeal, the Head of School will consider the recommendations and the reasons provided by the student or parents / guardians for not following the recommendation and will decide whether to accept the recommendation of the Deputy Head of School. The Head of School will then advise the student and parents / guardians of the decision. The decision made by the Head of School will be final.

Procedural Fairness

Policies related to the discipline of students are based on procedural fairness. It is the responsibility of the School to determine incidents that may require disciplinary action and the nature of any penalties that may apply. The process that leads to the imposition of such penalties, particularly but not exclusively in relation to suspension, expulsion and exclusion, must be procedurally fair. Procedural fairness is a basic right of all when dealing with authorities. Procedural fairness refers to what are sometimes described as the 'hearing rule' and the 'right to an unbiased decision'.

The 'hearing rule' includes the right of the person against whom an allegation has been made to:

- know the allegations related to a specific matter and any other information which will be taken into account in considering the matter;
- know the process by which the matter will be considered;
- respond to the allegations;
- know how to seek a review of the decision made in response to the allegations.

The 'right to an unbiased decision' includes the right to:

- impartiality in an investigation and decision-making;
- an absence of bias by a decision maker.

Procedural fairness includes making available to students and parents or caregivers the policies and procedures under which disciplinary action is taken. It also includes providing details of an allegation relating to a specific matter or incident. This will usually involve providing an outline of the allegations made in witness statements and consideration of witness protection. As part of ensuring the right to be heard, the Schools should establish any need for parents / guardians to be provided with interpreter services and, if required, make arrangements for such services to be available.

Where a student's misbehaviour is judged to be of a very serious nature, suspension and/or expulsion may be used as sanctions. The Head of School will always be involved in such cases and such decisions are at her discretion. In particular, where consideration is being given to the expulsion of a student from the School, the gravity of the circumstances requires that particular emphasis be given to all aspects of procedural fairness.

Corporal Punishment

Corporal punishment is the application of physical force to punish or correct the student, but not including the application of force to prevent personal injury to, or damage to, or the destruction of property of, any person (including the student).

Newcastle Grammar School:

- expressly prohibits corporal punishment
- does not explicitly or implicitly sanction the administering of corporal punishment by non-school persons, including parents, to enforce discipline at the School.

Parents / Guardians

Parents / Guardians are expected to support the values of Newcastle Grammar School. If parents / guardians become concerned with aspects of the School's Discipline Policy or Student Code of Conduct, they are encouraged to contact the appropriate member of staff – usually in the first instance the student's classroom teacher (K-6) or Head of Student Wellbeing K-6 or Head of House (7-12), or Deputy Head of School.
